

1 ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

This invention relates to an optical apparatus for observation which is provided with drive control means for driving a variable angle prism on the basis 5 of an output signal from vibration detecting means and in which the variable angle prism is installed between an objective lens and an erect prism.

10

15

20

25